WORK Kensho
Software Engineer, September 2013–Present
I currently work part-time as a software engineer at Kensho, a financial data analysis startup, currently working on front-end projects on their Django stack.

Accenture
Technology Consultant intern, Summer 2013
I developed and improved the Cloud Security Database PHP site. On the analytics team, developed new security offerings and developed prototypes of data visualizations in R.

Intel Corporation
System Analyst Intern, June–Aug 2012
Worked in an Agile environment to develop a system to extract the ROI from software usage data, involving a new SQL database made in SQL Server Management Studio with stored procedures to process data and notify customers, and three web applications, written using C# and Visual Studio, for customers to interact with data.

Public Speaking Practicum
Teaching Assistant, Sept. 2012–May 2013
As a TA for 6.S08x, a public speaking class, I help in conducting weekly 3-hour classes, and also meet with students every week for individual public-speaking tutorials.

LEADERSHIP StartLabs, Inc.
Managing Director, March 2013–Present
As head of StartLabs, a 501(c)(3) non-profit, I lead development of our programs, which includes hack MIT, our C2C incubator, pitch nights, among others. I work with our sponsors and am always reaching out to new partners in entrepreneurship hubs throughout the Northeast and the US, including leading a StartLabs expansion into Silicon Valley and Illinois. I ensure that StartLabs is working with its mission and goals in mind.

The Tech
News Editor, Winter 2012–Present; Copy Chief, Jan. 2011–Jan. 2012
As a News editor, I manage a staff of over 15 writers, interface with the MIT staff and administration, edit news articles in issues of the Tech, and serve on the Tech's managing board.
As the head of the Copy Department, which I formed, I managed a growing of 13 editors and edited every issue of the Tech for grammar, style, and correctness.

hackMIT
Director, Summer 2013
Currently on the organizing team of hackMIT, a hackathon with over 2,000 registrants.
